

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Laser information is prepared which indicates the irradiation interval and intensity level to be irradiated on an optical disc in advance. Then, when image drawing is indicated together with the indication of the forming spacing
5 for pits, a laser is controlled so as to achieve the irradiation interval and intensity level indicated by the laser information that corresponds to the indicated formation spacing to fabricate pits in the optical disc.

10